Creating casseroles, Part II

Create Your Own Casseroles

This is Part II of a three-part article on casseroles.

A bit of this, a dash of that. Add your imagination and create casserole masterpieces. Casserole cookery is the easiest there is, but it can prove the creative worth of a homemaker.

Cut a pastry topping into unusual designs. Add some vegetables you've never before used in casseroles. Or a "new-for-you" herb.

The basic ingredients for casseroles are meat, a combination of meat and vegetables, vegetables, cereals and pastas.

Begin with your basic recipe. Add to it until you get just the flavor and combination you want.

Regardless of what ingredients you do use in your casserole, make sure they are of good quality. Your casserole will only be as good as your ingredients are. If you decide to use leftovers, be sure to use enough for only one meal. Nothing is quite as tiresome as eating leftovers that have been leftover.

To add zest to casseroles, try convenient canned creamed soups. Or add gravies or sauces. Grated mild cheese, bread crumbs or chopped nuts sprinkled over the top of the casserole add nutrients as well as color.

Cooked rice, spaghetti, noodles or macaroni--they're all economical, tasty and make your casserole go further. Use equal amounts of meat with these starchy extenders for real taste appeal. Add your seasonings and you have a real perky flavor.

Speaking of seasonings - for casseroles, you have a variety. Experiment with different ones . . . mashed garlic, lemon juice, mustard, chili sauce, tomato sauce, parsley, tomato paste.

Create your own casserole masterpiece with some of the following combinations: BEGIN with meat, poultry, seafood, cheese, beans, noodles, macaroni, rice, spaghetti, cornmeal, hard cooked eggs; COMBINE with vegetables, rolled oats, cheese, soups, rice, eggs, meat, sour cream, sauces; BIND with crumbs, sauce, eggs, soups, gravy; FINISH with pastry, crumbs, biscuits.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Confetti Corn Cake

2 pkgs. frozen mixed vegetables (2 cans of mixed vegetables may be used)
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1 pkg. corn muffin mix
Creamy cheese sauce

Cook vegetables as directed; drain, season with butter and place in a 2 quart baking dish. Make corn bread as directed on package; spoon over vegetables. Bake in a hot oven (425) for 25 min. or until top is golden brown. Remove corn bread from oven; let stand 3 minutes; invert on serving platter. Serve with Creamy Cheese Sauce.

Creamy Cheese Sauce
Melt 2 Tbsp. butter in top of double boiler; remove from heat. Blend in 2 Tbsp. four, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. dry mustard, dash of pepper.
Slowly stir in 1½ cup milk. Cook over low heat stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils 1 minute. Stir in 1½ cup grated cheddar cheese and ½ tsp. Worchestershire Sauce. Cook over hot (not boiling) water 10 minutes or until cheese melts. Yields 2 cups.

Christians in the marketplace

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER
CHRISTIANS IN THE MARKETPLACE
Lesson for November 20, 1983
Bible Study Passages: Colossians 3:1-3; 4:5-6; 1 Peter 2:9-17

Introduction

THE WORSHIP IS OVER AND THE SERVICE IS ABOUT TO BEGIN. This seems to be a fitting benediciton upon every worship service, for once our worship is ended it is time to go out to serve in the name of Christ.

Christians are not called to serve the church in the church; they are called to serve the church in the world. The Christian is called to do Christ's mission in the marketplace where they work and play.

Christians are not called of God to be weekend saints; rather, they are called to enter their workaday worlds and proclaim love and grace in attitude, deed, and word! Jesus meant for faith to be lived out in the open, in the marketplaces where broken people struggle and hurt.

God does not call his people to retreat from the world, but to go into the world and seek to bring the kingdom of heaven on earth.

Aiming High [Colossians 3:1-3]

The Christian's aim in life must be for new horizons. Paul says, "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above..."Paul was in effect saying, "Since you have been buried and risen in Christ (speaking of baptism), you are to conduct your life with a different standard from the rest of the world."

The Christian has clay feet but a changed heart. The Christian walks in newness of life with a changed perspective on the world. No longer is he/she alienated from God, but with his spirit they go out to make some difference in their corner of the world.

The Christian has roots on earth and roots in heaven. The Christian's task is to do those things on earth that resemble the way they are to be done in heaven. "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." This is the Christian's high aim.

Facing Outsiders of the Kingdom [Colossians 4:5-6]

The person who lives outside the kingdom of God is often suspicious of those who claim to live within that kingdom's walls. Christ does not call us to avoid the outsiders. We are to witness to them through love and gracious behavior. We help redeem the world by staying in it, not by withdrawing from it.

Sometimes the church has been accused by outsiders not for resembling the Lord, but for being so much unlike the Lord. Unless the church (you and me) bears fruits which are relevant to the needs of people, people will see no relevance in needing the church.

The Christian's Citizenship [I Peter 2:9-17]

The Christian has a foot in two worlds. We are citizens of the kingdom of God and of earth. We are the "people of God" who are called out to be radically different from the non-believer.

We have been called from the dark force to live and serve in the force of God. To say "no" to darkness and "yes" to light means adopting a new life-style and living as a good citizen. Christians are to live obedient lives before earthly governing authorities. This does not mean, however, that they are to heel to authority with blind submissiveness. When the governing authority is in conflict with the Christian conscience, the Christian must peacefully react for justice to be done.

We are free in Christ. This does not mean freedom to do wrong. We are free to do what is right to fulfill our duty to God and humanity.

WORSHIP

Mission program slated

Dr. and Mrs. Davis L. Saunders will speak at Spring Creek Baptist Church at Darlington Heights Tuesday, Nov. 22, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to come and hear these two dynamic speakers.

Dr. Saunders is the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board's area Secretary for Eastern and Southern Africa. They live in Richmond. Dr. Saunders' office is at the SBFMB headquarters. The Saunders have just returned from a trip to Africa.

They will be speaking about new mission work. The Saunders have been engaged in pioneer work since 1951. They will bring to life the mission work that is told about in The Imperative Impulse, the 1983 Foreign Mission Study book for adults.

The Rev. Roland J. Grenouillou, Jr., pastor of Spring Creek Church, invites you to attend the meeting.

St. Luke Church news

By LOUISE CANADA

The Cornerstone Baptist Sunday School union met recently with the St. Andrews Church. The president, the Rev. J. M. Venerable, was in charge. Deacon Moore was in charge of the memorial service.

Following delivery of the president's message, officers were elected. All of last year's officers were re-elected for the coming year.

The ladies of the church served a delightful meal.

The nine-year-old preacher gave a message at St. Andrews Oct. 30.

A large group attended the preaching service at St. Luke Sunday. The Young Adult Choir provided music, and the young adult ushers were on duty.

The Rev. R. Jones delivered a wonderful message.

Following the service at St. Luke, a large portion of the congregation traveled to Evergreen for homecoming activities there.

The Rev. J. Cabbell, pastor, delivered a great message. The Rev. Jack Willson was speaker for the 3 p.m. service. Dinner was served later, and enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Louise Canada recently attended the funeral service of her nephew, Alfred Elliott, II, in Lynchburg. He lived in New York and served in the United States Army until his honorable discharge.

Shorly after that, she was informed that another nephew, Bill Elliott, had died in Los Angeles. He was a television and movie actor, and starred in the show, Dragnet. He was married to show business personality Dionne Warwick.

Mrs. Anna Canada is improving after being in with a cold.

In the hospital are Mrs. A. H. Claytor and Deacon Wesley Jones. Mrs. Christine Wheeler is home now after treatment in the hospital.
